

Dream

Dream

This night I had a dream;

A dream filled with female companions,

all shades of femininity.

One laughing on my back,

one scared in my arms,

one directing and

one pompously sitting on the toilet.

I remember the loss of a loved one,

the one in my arms.

The craziness loss can bring.

I remember the love,

the fragility, the togetherness,

more love I remember.

All resonances of love.
