Fly, fly!!!

If you want to fly;

you shouldn't practice stepping on staircases,

you shouldn't focus on next steps,

rather go jumping, better: practice deep landing.

You should confront your fear of falling.

If you truly want to live,

you should confront your fears of dying,

to fall into the chaos of reality, here,

to align with your natural state

and being carried inside,

like steps on water of the soul and being carried by "air" and non substance...
