Rain

Rain

I am a firestarter in the rain. All's wet, difficult to ignite. I look for dry places, some cover of sorts. Friends huddle below roofs, should I not leave, should I not stay, in this weather? There's dry places always, every where there are. It is just a question of mass, mass of rain versus, mass of fire. and a roof. I am small, without body, I need to gather weight; How about I ignite myself? Air and light, BREATHE! Evaporate moist, become lighter, become less, allow sun,

allow fire!!

I only know one roof.
