Smile

Smiles

I look at myself in the mirror.

I smile much too less.

Please let me see your smile behind all this worry?

I frown and tension too much, but it does not work.

Please let me discover smile behind all these faces, behind all troubled people, so I can learn from You.

I mimic smile to lure You to smile back at me.
Acid attracts acid,
Light attracts light,
Smile draws smile.

I look for smiles behind social curtains.

Let me be good company!

I just mimic to learn,

like any artist starts;

I am a just student of

Your hidden smiles.
