

Trueness

Trueness

Man of truest greatness hardly are remembered, these silent trickling drops into the ocean
are tasks for many generations consequences.

It is with each drop, the sea slowly fills to one day overflow and bring true life.
For now, all undertaking is expressly useless,
to bring ultimate use to all, much later.

Then take a seemingly impossible task and trickle,
trickle your life's energy into this ocean of beauty.
To end all present day slavery, to free souls to life,
live and grow into truest beautiful human beings.

20111023

In honor of William Wilberforce

(24 August 1759 – 29 July 1833),

the abolishment of slavery