Usefull

You have allowed me to fill all roles;
Child, engineer, scientist, warrior, doctor,
so I would throw away these uniforms.

You have left me a patch work coat and utter uselessness in this material world.

The lover is the only guest left.

You have taught me well!

I praise this uselessness,
since it has brought me closer,
close to You, my love.

I praise this, your inner being,
since it allows me to be.

To write, to praise.

I am like any flower,
just following the

sun
